To be continued... Canada's Role in "Missile Defense".....49

I've got some good news and some bad news. First, the bad news:

So-called "missile defense" is alive and well in Canada. In fact, Canada's role in this massive, U.S.-led, weapons development program has been growing steadily for many years and the government is actually more involved now than ever before. Martin's "no" was a total lie that deceived Canadians, covered up government complicity and undermined the peace/anti-war movement.

And now for the good news! This whole issue of Press for Conversion! is packed with original research that exposes Canada's active participation in the "missile defense" weapons program. Upcoming issues will continue this work. Please support COAT.
