Notes:

Figures are trend-indicator values expressed in millions of U.S. dollars at constant 1990 prices. Stockholm International Peace Research Institute (SIPRI) data on arms transfers refer to actual deliveries of major conventional weapons. To permit comparison between data on such deliveries of different weapons and identification of general trends, SIPRI uses a trend-indicator value. The values are only an indicator of the volume of international arms transfers and not their actual financial values. They are not comparable to economic statistics such as gross domestic product or export/import figures. Figures may not add up due to rounding.

“Major Conventional Weapons” include tanks, aircraft, ships and heavy artillery, but not small arms. (Most of Canada’s military exports are not included because they generally consist of major components such as radar, communications or electronic subsystems.)
